Identification Process

All educational levels are committed to identifying and servicing at risk students in an effort to intervene as early and appropriate as possible.

Students shall be identified in the elementary levels via the Building Intervention Team (BIT). Staff members shall fill out a student concern sheet and return to the building principal. Upon receipt of the student concern sheet the BIT shall discuss a plan of action for each student as appropriate.

Students in the middle and high school levels shall be identified by the building principal via attendance records, grade records, or information gathered from student, guidance staff and/or family.

Parents/guardians of identified students shall be notified upon identification. Parents shall be notified of available services and the right to request services.

Once a student is identified as being at risk, the student shall stay on a master list of students identified of needing interventions and/or support. Each school level shall communicate with each other to successfully transition at risk students from one level to the next.

District Programs and Services

Parkview School District maintains a number of different programs and services devoted to supporting at risk learners. The program or service given a student is individualized and based on the student's learning or emotional needs and is scientifically based.
