

CRITERIA FOR GRANTING HIGH SCHOOL CREDITS FOR ADULT DIPLOMAS

The following factors may be considered in assessing education and experience for granting high school credit towards a diploma for an adult that has exceeded the statutory age for attending school without graduating:

1. Credits previously earned and documented while attending high school.
2. Credits earned through extension and correspondence study.
3. Credits awarded on the basis of prior work training or experience.
4. Credits awarded on the basis of course work taken through the vocational, technical and adult education system. Credit awarded (limit 1 per subject tested) for completion of General Educational Development Option 2 (GEDO#2) training and successful completion of the test.
5. Credits awarded on the basis of approved apprenticeship training.
6. Credits awarded on the basis of examination.
7. Credits awarded on the successful job corps training or other approved program.
8. Credits awarded for military educational programs.
9. Credits awarded for secondary school work taken through a college or university.
10. Credits awarded for independent study programs.
11. Credits earned in foreign countries.
12. Credits awarded for summer school study.
13. Credits awarded on the basis of approved virtual learning opportunities, including online course work.
14. Credits awarded for any other successful educational experience.
