

UNUSUAL HAZARD TRANSPORTATION PLAN

Students living within two miles of their school of attendance shall be transported only if they live at a location that would necessitate their walking a considerable distance on a main traveled street or highway which has no sidewalks or other suitable walking area, or if they live at a location which presents some other form of unusual hazard. An unusual hazard is an existing condition which constitutes more than ordinary hazard and which seriously jeopardizes the safety of students in their travel to and from school.

It is recognized that all traffic situations through which students must travel present some degree of hazard. That degree of hazard often depends on the age of the students concerned. When such hazards reach a degree of danger which is unacceptable to the community in which they exist, the Board, with its combined judgment reflecting the safety interests of the community, may identify such hazards as unusual for the purpose of proposing a plan to remove or diminish them.

All areas outside of the Village limits of Orfordville are considered to be areas of unusual hazard.
