Emily Sheehan Elected State FFA Officer

By Kathy Heider

Emily Sheehan, a 2019 Parkview graduate was elected as an officer in the State FFA during the Wisconsin State FFA Convention. Emily is the first state officer from Parkview.

The state of Wisconsin is divided into ten districts and each district elects one officer. Once the officers were elected they met the next day and decided who would have which office. The president is selected from the previous year's officer team. Sheehan said that in Sectional Workshops each officer works with officers holding that office in their local FFA; Sheehan is the State Sentinel, so she will work with the Sentinels.

When I caught up with Sheehan at the Rock County 4-H Fair she had just returned from Washington DC. State officers from all of the states as well as Puerto Rico were in Washington DC for the State Officers Summit. The Wisconsin State Officers met with Congressman Mark Pocan and gave him a summary of FFA and CTE (Career

Back to School News

Wednesday, August 28 is back to school night for all students at Parkview this year. PES will hold their back to school night from 4—7 p.m. and the JR/SR High from 5—8 p.m. Students and parents will have the opportunity to meet teachers and staff. Students will also be able to drop off their school supplies in their classroom desk or locker.

Ice cream will also be served. We look forward to welcoming all students on August 28!

All parents in the district are reminded to make sure to register your students online if you have not already done so. Here is some previously shared information on registration:

Beginning on July 22, 2019, families will be able to register their students for the upcoming school year by following the necessary steps online through their Family Access (Skyward) account. A tutorial is available on the website that can be used to help families complete all of the steps that are part of the online registration process. Online registration will have the same format as last year so hopefully most families will be familiar with the process.

If you need assistance please contact the building secretary to set up a time to come in for assistance.

and Technical Education). The group also met with Senator Ron Johnson's staff.

Sheehan was in La Crosse for the Wisconsin Association of Agricultural Educators (WAAE) conference and was able to see Parkview's Ag Education Teacher Tjark Sattler receive the Outstanding Young Member Award.

Being a State Officer is more than a full-time job according to Sheehan, so she is going to take a year off to fulfil her duties. When she finishes her year as an officer she is going to attend Winona State University to become a nurse and join the Peace Corp.

In addition to the trip to DC Sheehan had already attended two officer training sessions. She was going to the Wisconsin State Fair to work there for the entire 11 day fair. After the State Fair she has an officers' retreat.

Another duty she has as a state officer is to visit each FFA chapter in her Section.

Sheehan will also attend the National FFA convention in the fall with the rest of the State Officers. She said she is looking forward to renewing friendships she made with other state officers while at the summit in Washington DC.

According to Sheehan, Wisconsin has 20,824 FFA members and nationally there are just over 700,000 FFA members. The FFA Centennial is in 2028 and the goal is to have one million members by then. Sheehan added that in the US there are approximately 1.3 million students in Ag education classes.

Parkview Youth Center

There will be a meeting to plan the upcoming year for the Parkview Youth Center on August 15 at 6:30 p.m. at the Orfordville Lutheran Church. Any interested community member is welcome to attend.

According to Teena Gerber, "In order for the youth center to run this year, we are going to need more volunteers who can supervise and provide the snack. I would like to have two sets of volunteers; one for supervising and one for the food. Hopefully, we can get more community and church participation."

The Parkview Youth Center is for students in grades 7 – 12 and they meet once a week during the school year. The Orfordville Lutheran Church allows them to use space in the lower level for their meeting place. It is a non-denominational youth group that many of the area churches help to sponsor to give the youth a place to gather and have fun after school. They love learning new activities and playing games. They offer the kids a snack or meal after school because they are hungry at the end of the school day. Volunteers are needed to prepare/serve the snack.

More volunteers are needed to lead activities. The kids love to learn new things such as arts/crafts, science experiments, woodworking, planting flowers, games and more games, exercising, singing, etc. If you have something you are willing to teach the kids or an activity you can lead them in, please consider volunteering, it can be a one-time commitment.

Donations of non-perishable snack items such as granola bars, fruit snacks, chips, fruit cups and bottled water are also needed.

If you have any questions you can contact Teena Gerber @tgerber5@hotmail.com, or just attend the meeting on August 15.

Dual Credit Opportunities through Blackhawk Technical College

By Mary Stelter

Parkview High School is very excited to share some news regarding dual credit opportunities for our students. We are partnering with Blackhawk Technical College to offer many dual credit opportunities for our students for the 19-20 school year. We have 15 courses that will be part of the dual credit opportunity. There are two types of courses, one is "transcripted" and the other is "advanced standing". The transcripted courses are placed on a Blackhawk Technical College transcript and the advanced standing courses allow students to take the next level of course if they choose to attend BTC. These courses do not have a cost for students/families and they are taught at Parkview by our current Parkview Staff. For students who were not able to attend the sign up day on July 24, BTC will have a plan to get those students registered at the beginning of our school year. We are working to bring more of these opportunities to our students! Here are some pictures of the students who were able to go to BTC on July 24. They were able to sign up for their courses and get their official Blackhawk Technical College student I.D. It was a great opportunity for students to experience a snippet of college life. If you have questions, please reach out to Mrs. Stelter or Mr. Greco.

Robotics

Tech Ed teacher David Luety will be teaching two sections of robotics this year in addition to the other tech Ed classes he teaches. Luety went to the National Robotics Training Center in Pittsburg, PA this summer and took part in training by Carnegie – Mellon, which is one of the top robotics engineering schools in the country.

After completing the course Luety will be able to certify the students who complete the course at Parkview and they will also be certified by Blackhawk Tech and Carnegie-Melon (these are post-secondary credits) so a student will be earning both a high school and a post-secondary credit for the course.

The students will be working with both robots and Virtual World. The virtual world will be purchased with the Carl Perkins grant. By using virtual world the students can do all of the coding and test it. Luety said many companies use virtual world before using the coding in their robots; it will show whether it moves as the person expected it to move.

The students will also be taking part in some competitions during the course. Students may earn scholarships from some of the competitions.

Luety said "robotics and coding" are the future. He added that the military is using robotics as well as manufacturing.

Adding the robotics course is expanding the engineering programs at Parkview, but all other Tech Ed classes will still be offered.

Luety said robotics teaches problem solving which is a skill that is used in many areas, not just robotics.

Luety keeps up with all of the changes in technology by viewing webinars, talking to people in the industry, talking to people who have attended conferences and with partnerships in the industry. He said the industry is constantly evolving so he needs to keep up with it to adapt to the changes.

Luety hopes to have one of the robots up and running for the Open house on August 28 so people will have a chance to see what the course entails.

There are two sections of the course with eighteen students in each, and there were more students who wanted to take the course.

Einstein Project

Principal Karen Strandt-Conroy and the PES Science team attended a one day conference in Green Bay as part of the Wisconsin Technology Initiative (WTI). Those attending included Jamie Bell, Rylee Covert, Sean Donagan, Halie Restivo, Peg Harnack and Nikki Lutzke. Attending the conference was one of the requirements of the WTI Grant the PES received in the late fall of 2018. The grant was through the WI Technology Initiative (WTI). The WTI annually offers a competitive K-12 grant for technology and training. Parkview was awarded $25,000 to purchase Makerspace tools and technology and to pay for teacher training through the Einstein project. The training will help teachers develop skills, strategies and the correct mindset to facilitate high level students learning. As students utilize the Makerspace lab, they will incorporate the 4Cs (creativity, collaboration, critical thinking and communication).

The Einstein project is a consortium of school districts that share resources and feeds the Green Bay area schools their science materials. They put together a list of materials approved for purchasing for a makerspace grant and Parkview purchased most of

According to the WAAE press release, "The WAAE Outstanding Young Member award program was designed as a means of encouraging young teachers to remain in the profession, as well as recognize participation in professional activities. WAAE members who have completed at least three years of teaching, but not more than five years, are eligible to apply for this award."

Sattler was nominated by the other Ag teachers in Section 5 (Rock, Dane and Green County) and had to complete an application. The applications were scored by the Wisconsin Association of Agriculture Educators Board. They chose one section winner from each section and those ten winners competed for the award. High School Principal wrote a letter of recommendation for him as part of the application.

Parkview FFA membership has grown by 393% and students are volunteering over 1,000 hours annually to community service projects.

Of the twelve courses offered for students in the ag education program, two are science credit equivalent, three are articulated with Blackhawk Technical College; and students enrolled in Welding can complete a career safe OSHA Welding Training Certificate.

"One of the best ways to build a successful future is to educate students well," says Becky Wirkus, 2018-19 WAAE president. "Dedicated agricultural educators, such as Tjark, help students build real-world skills, learn emerging technology content, develop workplace skills, and utilize intrinsic motivation and critical thinking skills to solve real-world problems."

*Some information in this article including the quotes and statistics were taken from the WAAE's June 27 press release.

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA), a Federal law, requires that Parkview School District, with certain exceptions, obtain your written consent prior to the disclosure of personally identifiable information from your child's education records. However, Parkview School District may disclose appropriately designated "directory information" without written consent, unless you have advised the District to the contrary in accordance with District procedures. The primary purpose of directory information is to allow the Parkview School District to include this type of information from your child's education records in certain school publications. Examples include:

- ☑ The annual yearbook;
- ☑ Honor roll or other recognition lists;

Directory information, which is information that is generally not considered harmful or an invasion of privacy if released, can also be disclosed to outside organizations without a parent's prior written consent. Outside organizations include, but are not limited to, companies that manufacture class rings or publish yearbooks. In addition, two federal laws require local educational agencies (LEAs) receiving

If you do not want Parkview School District to disclose directory information from your child's education records without your prior written consent, you must notify the District in writing. Special Education Advocates from Wisconsin Stormed Capitol Hill in Washington, D.C.

By Todd Greco

During the week of July 7th, 2019, five (5) special education and early intervention professionals from the Wisconsin Council for Administrators of Special Services (WCASS) took time to storm Capitol Hill in Washington, D.C., and advocate on behalf of children and youth with exceptionalities and the professionals who work on their behalf. I was proud to be a part of this amazing group of Wisconsin professionals, and grateful to have received support and encouragement from the Parkview Board of Education. The first day was filled with experts providing detailed research information and our team effectively strategizing for our congressional appointments. The second day involved walking the Halls of Congress and meeting with members or their staffers on educational issues impacted by decisions in Washington. Our final day included partnership between WCASS and the Wisconsin Association of School District Administrators (WASDA). The WASDA leadership sponsored a breakfast for congressional members/staffers which our team attended; we were appreciative of this invitation. WASDA provided an opportunity to build relationships, advocate, and deliver our message while enjoying a meal together in an informal setting.

For me, the highlight of the summit was meeting with Members of Congress and/or their staff, and sharing stories of how federal special education funding has positively impacted our Parkview students. There are important policy issues before the U.S. Congress, which can have a positive impact on the outcomes for children and youth with exceptionalities.

While on Capitol Hill, the Wisconsin team of advocates presented Senator Baldwin, Senator Johnson, Congressman Grothman, Congressman Pocan, Congressman Steil, and their respective staff with local stories that touched on five issues currently challenging the field of special education and early intervention:

- Fund special education and early intervention programs.
- Protect public funds for public education.
- Address the shortage of special education teachers and early intervention providers.
- Build positive climates for learning by investing in mental health.
- Invest in IDEA early childhood programs.

Our field has been experiencing teacher shortages for years; however, the special education teacher shortage in Wisconsin and across the nation is especially acute and remains a challenge that our elected officials in Washington D.C. and Madison can help solve. While the political climate remains contentious, it is important to remember that education binds all of us in our communities. Developing the potential in every child benefits our local communities and states; it strengthens our nation. I feel that my voice was heard on Capitol Hill, and the local stories I was able to share resonated with Members of Congress and their staff. At the conclusion of each meeting, I encouraged those representatives in attendance to contact me in the future should a need arise which demands hearing from a voice in a local school district. I am optimistic and look forward to serving as a resource when called upon.

These advocacy efforts were organized by the Council for Exceptional Children (CEC) and the Council of Administrators of Special Education (CASE). I was able to join over 290 special and gifted education and early intervention advocates around the nation by participating in the 2019 Special Education Legislative Summit

Parkview Kids at the Rock County 4-H Fair

Parkview students exhibit a variety of projects at the Rock County 4-H fair as 4-H and FFA members. All of these photos and more were published on the Parkview Facebook page during the fair or in early August. These projects keep the students busy even before school gets out. Animals have to be walked to get used to walking properly in the show ring. Gardens need to be tended to have good vegetables to exhibit and foods need to be baked, clothing needs to be sewn and cakes decorated. 4-H and FFA members don't have time to get bored during the summer.

- 2). On June 4, 2019, fourteen Parkview PES teachers collaborated with teachers from New Glarus Elementary School to learn about the 'Amplify' program. The New Glarus teachers have been using 'Amplify' during the 2018-2019 school year, and could answer usage questions.
- 3). Data Days assessment at PES was an orchestrated event with Karen, Jen, and Diane Holtz reviewing each grade and class level data from Fall, Winter, and Spring assessments.
- 4). Jen provided a brief review of the assessment data graphs submitted for PES aReading, PES aMath, PJH aReading, and PJH aMath by grade. The Aspire Interim assessments for grades 9 & 10 were also provided for Reading, Math and Science. See her report. Jen Bowers responded explaining the modified curriculum for that group, and that they had lost seven teaching days during the winter months prior to the assessment period.

Karen Strandt-Conroy added that those percentages are difficult to gauge because of the small class sizes. One or two students having poor testing days can grossly effect the overall numbers. Dr. Lutzke noted that the Math scores are noticeably higher than the Reading scores. Motivation is an issue that drew more discussion, including parents encouraging their children to read more at home.

Jen Bowers said that they promote parents reading to their children to increase the student's vocabulary and comprehension of words in stories.

Karen Strandt-Conroy offered that Math scores are generally better than Reading scores due to interest in the subject matter and the challenge to succeed. She'd added that a goal is to help our community become more familiar with our math and reading curriculum.

Ms. Victor may also be able to assist in coaching high school level sporting venues. Motion by Jenny Krajeck, 2nd by Tina Suiter-Meyers to: Approve the Recommendation to Re-Assign K-8 Phy. Ed. Teacher Nicole Victor to 9-12 Social Studies teacher. All in favor voted "Aye", none opposed, Motion Carried 5-0.

10.2. Discuss/Action Regarding Adding a Trapshooting Simulator at PJH/HS: Brad Clint from the Clay Schwackers Trapshooting Team presented a proposal for bringing a Trapshooting Simulator to Parkview. Studies indicate that shooter performance can improve by upwards of 70% with this type of simulated practice without the use of actual guns and ammunition. The shooting simulator is quite comparable to golf simulators that record swing, force, and distance for golfers. Numerous variables can be programmed into the software to add degrees of difficulty. Coach Clint is willing to write a grant requesting funding for the equipment and software required to make this option available for the Parkview Trapshooting teams. No actual shotguns are used for this type of practice, and the simulator guns would be locked in a certified gun safe when not in use. Location for the simulator, and times of practices were also discussed. Motion by Chuck Hagmann, 2nd by Zach Knudson to: Approve the Proposal to: Allow Coach Brad Clint to: Write a Grant Requesting Funding for a Trapshooting Simulator, Dummy Guns and Software needed for the Parkview Trapshooting Team to train. All in favor voted "Aye", none opposed, Motion Carried 5-0.

the items on the list with the grant. It is headed by Dennis Rockhill.

Three PES teachers, Nikki Lutzke, Hailie Restivo and Jessica Seibert are working on their Makerspace certification for 3D printing. The school has three 3D printers that Lutzke and Restivo have been working with along with their students for a year. Lutzke said getting certified opens a whole new level of possibilities. I asked Lutzke to explain the certification and she said, "Jessica, Hailie and I are working on Makerbot Certification. This certification allows us to really get to "know" the 3D printing experience, inside and out. We'll be able to help staff unlock the potential of the 3D printers with their own students. To get certified, we each had to take 2 online courses and write a piece of curriculum that would engage students in the 3D printing experience. The Makerbot Replicator printers (we have two) are housed in the Lightbulb Learning Lab."

Lutzke and Restivo had been working on some projects with the 3D printer including a slinky, chain links and other items. The plastic used in a 3D printer is Polylactic acid (PLA) which is made from potato starch, it is not petroleum based. The codes for printing many items on 3D printers are open source codes so student and teachers can use them. If they use the open source they are obligated to give feedback, and report any issues they had or things they did to change it. This is what keeps open source moving forward and free to use.

The science teachers from the upper three grades, Sean Donagan, Nikki Lutzke and Hailie Restivo met to set up the science program for fourth, fifth and sixth grades. In these grades they switch rooms for their classes. More focus and support will be given to coding and maker space as a result of getting the grant and going to the workshop.

The kindergarten through third grade science team is working on what this will look like for these grades since their classes are self-contained.

Rockhill will be coming to PES to conduct a Makerspace Boot camp for PES teachers for their Back-to-School Professional Development.

Summer Time for the Custodial Staff

By Kathy Heider

Did you ever wonder what the custodial staff at Parkview does in the summer when there are no students around? Did you think their job is easier because there are no students or teachers in the classrooms? When school gets out each classroom has all desks, chairs, tables and anything not fastened down (except for large storage cabinets) removed so that a thorough cleaning can be done. They do one room at a time. Once the furniture is removed they change filters for the air intake system, clean the walls and paint or touch up paint if needed, clean the windows inside, and wax and burnish the floors. They put four coats of wax on each floor. Each coat of wax is put down, then allowed to dry, and then burnished before the next coat can be put down. Once they are finished and the floors are dried and burnished the final time they have to move the furniture back in. The district uses floor protectors on all chairs and tables to help preserve the wax on the floors. Building and grounds director Jeff Lund said they use 150 gallons of wax each summer to finish the floors.

At PES the staff also has to plan around two summer school sessions, so the first session is held in one wing while they work on another area. The second session is then held in an area that has been finished.

Another job the custodial staff did this year was to take down all of the old smart boards and install the new ones. There are seven new smart TV's and 55 – 58 new smart boards. The new boards are much bigger and heavier – the new boards weigh 173 pounds while the old ones were only 35 – 40 pounds. The old ones had to be removed, then Joel Monk would install the new brackets and several staff members would have to lift the new board into position while Joel attached them. Additionally cable had to be run for all of the new smartboards and TV's.

One employee, Roger Baker, is kept busy mowing and trimming the entire school property, including the football field and softball field. The total acreage according to Lund is 25 acres, so it is indeed a full-time job.

Working around vacations also adds to the challenge of getting things done. As Lund said, "They've earned their vacation, and want to take them when the weather is nice."

There are a few summer staff members; some of those who work in food service or as instructional aids during the school year work part time in the custodial department during the summer. Additional there are some student employees during the summer, Sarah Olin and Noah Lutzke are working at PES this summer. Sarah said she has enjoyed her summer job and the staff said she has learned to do every job that they do. Sarah also does crossing guard duty when summer school is in session. Noah said this is his third summer working as a member of the custodial staff and he has enjoyed it.

The gym floors in both gyms were also refinished and that work has to be staggered because they need to sit for a couple weeks before they can be used after refinishing.

Connie Sturkey, who moved from the JR/SR High to PES at the end of the school year, said that despite challenges the work has gone well and they are getting it done. Lund said that all rooms should be finished in both buildings by August 16 so that teachers can get back in their classrooms and start setting up for the upcoming school year. He added that all of the outside windows will also be cleaned before school starts.

One more project that the some of the staff worked on was disassembling a 20 x 75 foot batting cage that was donated to the district by Rock Summer Baseball provided the district would disassemble it and move it. Lund said it took almost a week for four employees to completely disassemble the cage and transported it to Parkview. They will pour a concrete pad and reassemble the cage this fall.

Lund added that there is a semi-load of wood chips coming before school starts to put down on the PES playgrounds.

According to Lund, a lot of preventative maintenance is also done during the summer.

Kim Schwellenbach, a custodian at PES keeps the PES staff informed as to what area is being cleaned and where staff members can and can't go in the building on a weekly basis via email so that if a staff member would like to work in their room or drop things off they know if they can get to their room.

When I visited last week, two crossover halls were among the areas needing to be finished as well as moving some lockers from one location to another. Summer vacation is certainly not a vacation for the hard working custodial crew at Parkview. While I visited PES, the same thorough cleaning takes place at the JR/SR High.

Parkview Albany Football

Parkview football enters a new era as the first year of a coop football program with Albany begins. Coach Bob Meyer said that he is excited about the coop program; he thinks it will be a good thing for both schools.

Meyer said both communities seem to be excited about the program. There is a new logo on the helmet this year with the comet added to the Viking V – Meyer designed that to incorporate both schools logos. The shirts will say Parkview Albany on them.

Jim Schwab from Albany has joined the coaching staff; he is a teacher at Albany and also coached when Albany was in the coop with Evansville.

There are enough players going out that there will be a JV team again this year. They are trying to add a few more JV games to the schedule if possible.

The junior highs are also going to coop for a stronger junior high team.

There was a football camp in July for any player who wanted to attend and the turnout was very good. Practice began on August 5. The first football game of the year is Thursday, August 22, at 7 p.m. at Johnson Creek. The next game will be Friday, August 30 at home against Belleville.

Homecoming is Friday, September 27.

Come out and cheer on you hometown football team!
